

PIXLEY BERATES THE PRESS.

Ever since the press of San Francisco showed up Bob Morrow as a knave and jury briber, and he escaped the stripes of the Penitentiary by one vote out of a jury of twelve men, Pixley has been berating the press for "hounding public men." If it were not for a vigilant and outspoken press San Francisco would be the complete paradise of the sleek knaves and rascals who compose her jury bribing gangs, her thugs, prisoners, opium smugglers, murderers, perjurers, ballot stuffers, and cappers of the infamous ring which imports Chinese prostitutes from across the Pacific.

It has been a well demonstrated fact that the present officers of the law are either utterly incompetent to carry out the ends of justice, or are in direct collusion with the law breakers on a basis of 50 per cent. divy on all the plunder secured. When this state of affairs exists, and it does exist, it is high time that the press took a hand in the ferreting out of crime, and also in the conviction of the scamps whom the law courts seem so anxious to let alone.

Whenever an important case is on the docket District Attorney Stonehill gets sick, and when U. S. District Attorney Carry attempts to prosecute, almost any cheap lawyer gets the accused off, for he usually finds a flaw in the indictment or some bungling piece of work, which insures the quick liberation of the prisoner. If all of these things fail the Court accommodates steps in and grants a motion to allow the defendant to go free, and rules out the only pieces of testimony that would convict.

While this state of affairs exists there is nothing left but for the press to take a hand and see that the duty which the officers of the law neglect is properly performed.

The Cleveland Leader and Herald publishes a letter from a subscriber in Pasadena, Cal., in which he orders his paper stopped. The reason given is that he cannot receive the paper with any regularity, because there is such poor postal service upon the Coast, the department "not allowing enough help to distribute the mails." Whereupon the Cleveland paper indulges in this incisive criticism:

This is but a sample of the complaints that are received almost daily from subscribers on the Pacific coast. The postal service in Oregon and California is abominable, and has been ever since the Democratic administration began to cut down expenses in order that a favorable showing might be made in the annual report of the Postmaster-General. What with inefficient Democratic clerks in the East, and niggardly appropriations to the far West, the postal service is rapidly becoming demoralized. It might be well to turn the "rascals" in again.

We are informed by a man from Alpine county that the County Supervisors are trying to fix up some law to prevent people from catching so many fish, especially the small trout. He says it is a shame that some people will catch a trout the size of their little finger, and keep it because it counts one fish. They estimate at Woodford's that there was over 60,000 caught last Summer and taken toward Carson. They don't know how many went the other way, to California. Most of the fish taken are yearling, and if caught at that rate will last but a few years. These people will have to fall back on the Mexican dam for their camping grounds.

An ingenious woman in Holt county, Neb., saved the lives of two men during the blizzard. She saw them pass her house, and surmising that they might be lost their way, heated a flat iron and placed it close to a pane of glass to keep off the frost, and set a lamp by the window. They saw the light and were saved.

"You are on the road to hell," said Sam Small to a member of his congregation who was dressed in silk. "Then, sir," said the lady quietly, "we shall meet again."

STRUCK BLIND.

The Deadly Poison That Blighted the Optic Nerve.

Rochester Union and Advertiser.

Our reporter was very much struck with a conversation between two well-known citizens, a short time ago.

"I notice you wear very strong eye-glasses."

"Yes, yes, I am a perfect slave to my goggles. It is hard for me to understand why one's eyesight fails when all other faculties appear to be in good condition. Even the young appear to lose their eyesight."

"I question very much the theory and the old notion that poor light, fine print, etc., is responsible for it."

"It is well you may. If you consult an oculist for eye treatment, you will find he is almost sure to analyze the fluids passed before he will commence treatment; one once told me that over half of the failing eyesight was attributable to disease of the kidneys, because of their inability to expel the uric acid from the system."

"How is that?"

"I do not know. He claimed that failing eyesight was one of the most prominent symptoms of advanced kidney and Bright's disease."

Becoming more interested, our reporter thought he would carry investigations still further, and called upon an institution where several prominent physicians are employed, and asked the question:

"Why is it that uric acid or kidney poison affects the eyes?"

One of them answered, "It does not affect the eyes any more than any other organ. It is one of the symptoms of kidney disease. The system becomes saturated with uric acid, and, as a result, the weakest organ is the first to suffer. It may be the lungs, heart, brain or any other organ; it generally affects many of the other organs, and the person so affected may call it neural debility, or premature old age, when in reality it is but the effect of uric acid, continually poisoning the system, gradually consuming the patient. It is for this reason our remedy cures so many persons of what are ordinarily called diseases, which in fact are only symptoms. We cure the cause and the cause cures the effect."

"Then you cure blindness, do you?"

"I will say yes, if you wish to put it as broad as that, and yet we are not entitled to the credit. When we restore the kidneys to health, they in turn restore the failing eyesight. Our remedy restores the kidneys to a healthy action, and they cause the cure, and so it is with many of the diseases that we cure, which in reality are but symptoms. For instance, N. B. Sparks of Rochester, says 'I had lost the use of one eye, and the other was rapidly failing, caused by impure blood. I took Warner's safe cure to purify my blood. Hardly expected it to restore my eyesight, but it has done so.'

W. A. Barry, of this city, says 'My little daughter seven years old complained some two years since of inability to see, and we noticed that she stumbled over things while walking about the house. I looked at her eyes and found them almost white. This so alarmed me that I consulted a physician, who said it would be necessary to have an operation performed upon them. To this I could not consent, but allowed him to give her several treatments. She grew worse and waited to a mere skeleton, until a doctor was honest than the rest, advised Warner's safe cure, and we began its use. I noticed improvement at once, and gradually she regained her health.'

Mrs. Emma A. Denamore, Washington, D. C., had her eyesight suddenly fail her, so she was unable, as she says, to read even the largest print, or recognize friends on the street. After a few bottles of Warner's safe cure, her eyesight began to return, and continuing its use, she was completely restored.

Uric acid has a special liking for the optic nerve, and it is no uncommon thing for the eyesight to begin to fail as the kidney disorder advances, while the other organs remain in apparent good health for a longer period, or until there is a general giving way of the system. Then physicians blandly pronounce the malady general debility, or call a symptom a disease, that was the most prominent before death claimed its victim. They may call it apoplexy, paralysis, consumption, pneumonia, blood poisoning, impoverished blood, malaria, rheumatism, pleurisy—nevertheless it is kidney disease, all the same, under another name.

"Why all this deception?"

"Because the so-called medical fraternity have no preparations that can cure kidney disease, especially when it has become advanced, and they are ashamed to acknowledge it, and many of them are too high-bred to their code to use a prescription and a specific for the kidneys, because it is advertised, and the proprietors refuse to expose their formula. That is exactly as it is, in as few words as I can give it."

"Thanks. You have no objections to my publishing this interview?"

"None, whatever. We have no secrets here, except our formula."
